2022 CMS QUALITY CONFERENCE

New Hope, New Health: Charting a Path Forward

Background

The 2022 CMS Quality Conference will bring together 5,000 thought leaders across the health care spectrum to explore how patients, advocates, providers, researchers, and champions in quality improvement can create new hope and spread new solutions in health care by charting a path forward in quality improvement.

Audience

- Senior leaders from Medicaid/CHIP, Health Plans, and contractors at the state level whom we are aligning with to usher in a new era of state and local flexibility.
- External stakeholders, representing Professional Associations, academia and health services research, and Affordable Care Organizations.
- Patients and patient advocates, including patients and leaders from the End Stage Renal Disease Network Organization who work with the nation's dialysis facilities and ESRD patients to improve quality results of chronic kidney disease, dialysis, and kidney transplant care in the USA.
- Leaders and staff supporting quality improvement work in small, rural, critical access hospitals, and lower performing hospitals working to meet the needs of medically underserved and vulnerable populations, in the areas of pandemic response, opioids, patient harm and hospital readmissions.
- Kidney Transplantation stakeholders collaborating and participating in initiatives of the Advancing American Kidney Health Executive Order.
- National experts from Quality Innovation Network-Quality Improvement Organizations and representatives from Beneficiary and Family Centered Care-Quality Improvement Organizations whom we work with to support Medicare beneficiaries and their families, and to generate significant, quantitative improvements in health outcomes.
