Called & Co-Responsible

Summer Seminars for Church Life Renewal
Fostering Pastoral Creativity in the Community
The Catholic Imagination

Emerges from the dynamic relationship between the gift and task of communion

The Gift of Communion:
The offer of God’s Life by the Spirit, drawing us into the union of the Father and Son

The Task of Communion:
To become what you received - a bond of communion for others - the reality of charity
At the heart of Notre Dame Vision is the mission to empower young people to recognize grace at work in their lives and respond to God’s call by offering their gifts in service to the needs of the world.
I ask you also to be protagonists of this transformation. You are the ones who hold the key to the future! Continue to fight apathy and to offer a Christian response to the social and political troubles emerging in different parts of the world. I ask you to build the future, to work for a better world.

Dear young people, please, do not be bystanders in life. Get involved! Jesus was not a bystander. He got involved. Don’t stand aloof, but immerse yourselves in the reality of life, as Jesus did. Above all, in one way or another, fight for the common good, serve the poor, be protagonists of the revolution of charity and service, capable of resisting the pathologies of consumerism and superficial individualism.

Preparatory Reflection
Identify Community
Listen to Community
Ponder Community
Respond to Community
Reflect on the Process
Preliminary Preparations

- What are you excited about as you begin this process?
- As you reflect on the place of prayer and reflection in your own life, what practices draw your attention?
- How do you plan to grow in your understanding of the gift and task of communion this summer?
What community do you feel drawn to serve?

What makes you curious about this community?

How do you plan to approach this community?

What is your disposition towards them?
- How do you plan to listen to this community?
- What are the challenges facing the members of your community?
- What are their fears? What are their hopes?
- What gifts does this community have?
- How can you cultivate openness and empathy?
Ponder Community

- What did you hear? What resonates with you? What are the greatest needs present?
- What themes of the Catholic Imagination speak to this community?
- How will you pray for this community?
- How can you help your community to practice hope, develop resilience and perseverance? Recognize and articulate grace at work in their lives?
Respond to Community

- What do you hope to create? What need(s) are you hoping it will address?
- What resources would you need to complete it? Which do you already have?
- How will you use your formation, skills and talents in your response?
- What more do you need to learn to successfully shape or implement your response?
- What are signs that this is a fruitful response? Attentive to needs?
Reflect on Process

- What did you learn in this process about yourself? about listening? about your community? the Catholic Imagination?
- What did you create? How did it address the needs you identified?
- Where have you seen grace at work in this process?
- If you could go back and tell yourself one thing at the beginning of this process, what would it be? What would you do differently?
I want to state clearly that young people themselves are agents of youth ministry. Certainly they need to be helped and guided, but at the same time left free to develop new approaches, with creativity and a certain audacity.

So I will not attempt here to propose a kind of manual of youth ministry or a practical pastoral guide. I am more concerned with helping young people to use their insight, ingenuity and knowledge to address the issues and concerns of other young people in their own language.

Pope Francis, Christus Vivit, 203
Curating wonder and curiosity for Pastoral Creativity through the beauty and witness of the Church.
Strengthening commitment to Pastoral Creativity by cultivating relationships and providing pastoral support.
Question for Breakout Discussion or Personal Reflection:

You have the option to join a breakout room or remain in the main room for silent reflection.

How might this model work in your setting (parish, school, diocese, family, etc) to inspire missionary creativity and empower the laity for co-responsibility?
Examples of the “Pastoral Creativity in the Community” social media campaign on the Notre Dame Vision Facebook, Instagram and Twitter Accounts
At the heart of Notre Dame Vision is the mission to empower young people to recognize grace at work in their lives and respond to God’s call by offering their gifts in service to the needs of the world.

This mission lives on! We invite you to join us in a process of pastoral creativity in your local community! The first step is to identify the community you plan to serve using the following questions:

* What community do you feel drawn to serve this summer?
* What makes you curious about this community?
* How do you plan to approach this community?
* What is your disposition towards them?

On Friday, we will share examples of the communities our Mentors chose to serve this summer!

#Vision2020
Over the next several weeks, we will share practical tips and resources as part of a process we are calling “Pastoral Creativity in the Community.” Each Tuesday, we will share a Corporal Work of Mercy as well as suggestions for engagement. On Thursdays, we will share a Spiritual Work of Mercy and further suggestions for engagement. Our mentors are working this summer to engage their communities and we challenge you to think of the ways you can work alongside us and engage too!

Today we highlight “Visit the Sick." (Illustrations by Julie Lonnenman)

PONDER:
Those who are sick experience not just physical suffering, but also the pain of isolation, especially in these times of COVID-19. While in-person visits may not be possible at the present moment, there are many creative ways to bring comfort to those who are ill.

ACT:
* Allow your own experience of loneliness during this time of quarantine to deepen your compassion for those who are ill and alone.
* Send cards or flowers to those in the hospital or nursing home.
* Offer to grocery shop or cook for those caring for chronically sick family members to limit their exposure.
* Make and display signs thanking the health care workers in your community.
* Donate blood.

YET AT THE SAME TIME WE MUST DARE TO BE DIFFERENT, TO POINT TO IDEALS OTHER THAN THOSE OF THIS WORLD, TESTIFYING TO THE BEAUTY OF GENEROSITY, SERVICE, PURITY, PERSEVERANCE, FORGIVENESS, FIDELITY TO OUR PERSONAL VOCATION, PRAYER, THE PURSUIT OF JUSTICE AND THE COMMON GOOD, LOVE FOR THE POOR, AND SOCIAL FRIENDSHIP.

For the next few weeks, each Thursday we will highlight a Spiritual Work of Mercy and offer suggestions for engagement. This week we explore “Admonish the Sinner” (Illustrations by Julie Lonneman)
