RE: Notification of potential supply disruption for 3M aerospace products

Dear Valued Customer:

3M is experiencing intermittent supply disruptions which may affect our ability to meet anticipated lead times on certain 3M aerospace products. 3M is actively working to mitigate these supply impacts.

This situation is dynamic and will continue to evolve, so please continue to connect with your customer service representative for the latest information regarding your order delivery dates. We appreciate your partnership and flexibility during this time.

3M remains committed to providing quality products and outstanding service to our customers. We apologize for any inconvenience that this situation may cause. We appreciate your continued support of 3M products.

Sincerely,

Daniel J Renninger
