

GLOBAL REGULATORY & TRADE SERVICES CONSULTING

The international transport of cell and gene therapies, biologics, reproductive medicine materials, and animal health products is a challenging task made more complicated by the ever-changing array of trade regulations. Cryoport Trade Services Consulting team assists clients to help make this complex process seamless by collaboratively assessing the risks and processes involved to facilitate international trade.

COMMON CHALLENGES WE CAN ASSIST WITH INCLUDE:

- Identify what may be required when shipping on a new international lane
- Review of current international shipments that have been delayed
- Understanding if a commodity needs additional licenses or permits for import or export

LET US PROVIDE ASSISTANCE TO YOUR TEAM:

- Would web or onsite training in Import and/or Export basics be helpful?
- Are there specific global trade training needs your organization and team can benefit from around trade compliance, importing or exporting?
- Do you need help classifying and understanding what may be required to ship your commodity?
- Do you need more information on the countries you will ship to?
- Do you have a commodity database and know your associated tariff numbers?
