

STORY BY MATTHEW TURNER ILLUSTRATED BY TATYANA ORLOVICH

IT'S VOTING DAY!

IT'S VOTING DAY!

STORY BY MATTHEW TURNER ILLUSTRATED BY TATYANA ORLOVICH
a creative partnership with Generation180

The sun is up, the children too.
The day is bright. The day is new.
“Wake up! Wake up!” the children say.
“It’s Voting Day! It’s Voting Day!”

A day to help and to give back.
Gather up what we need to pack.
We'll visit neighbors close and far.
One last thing, unplug the car!

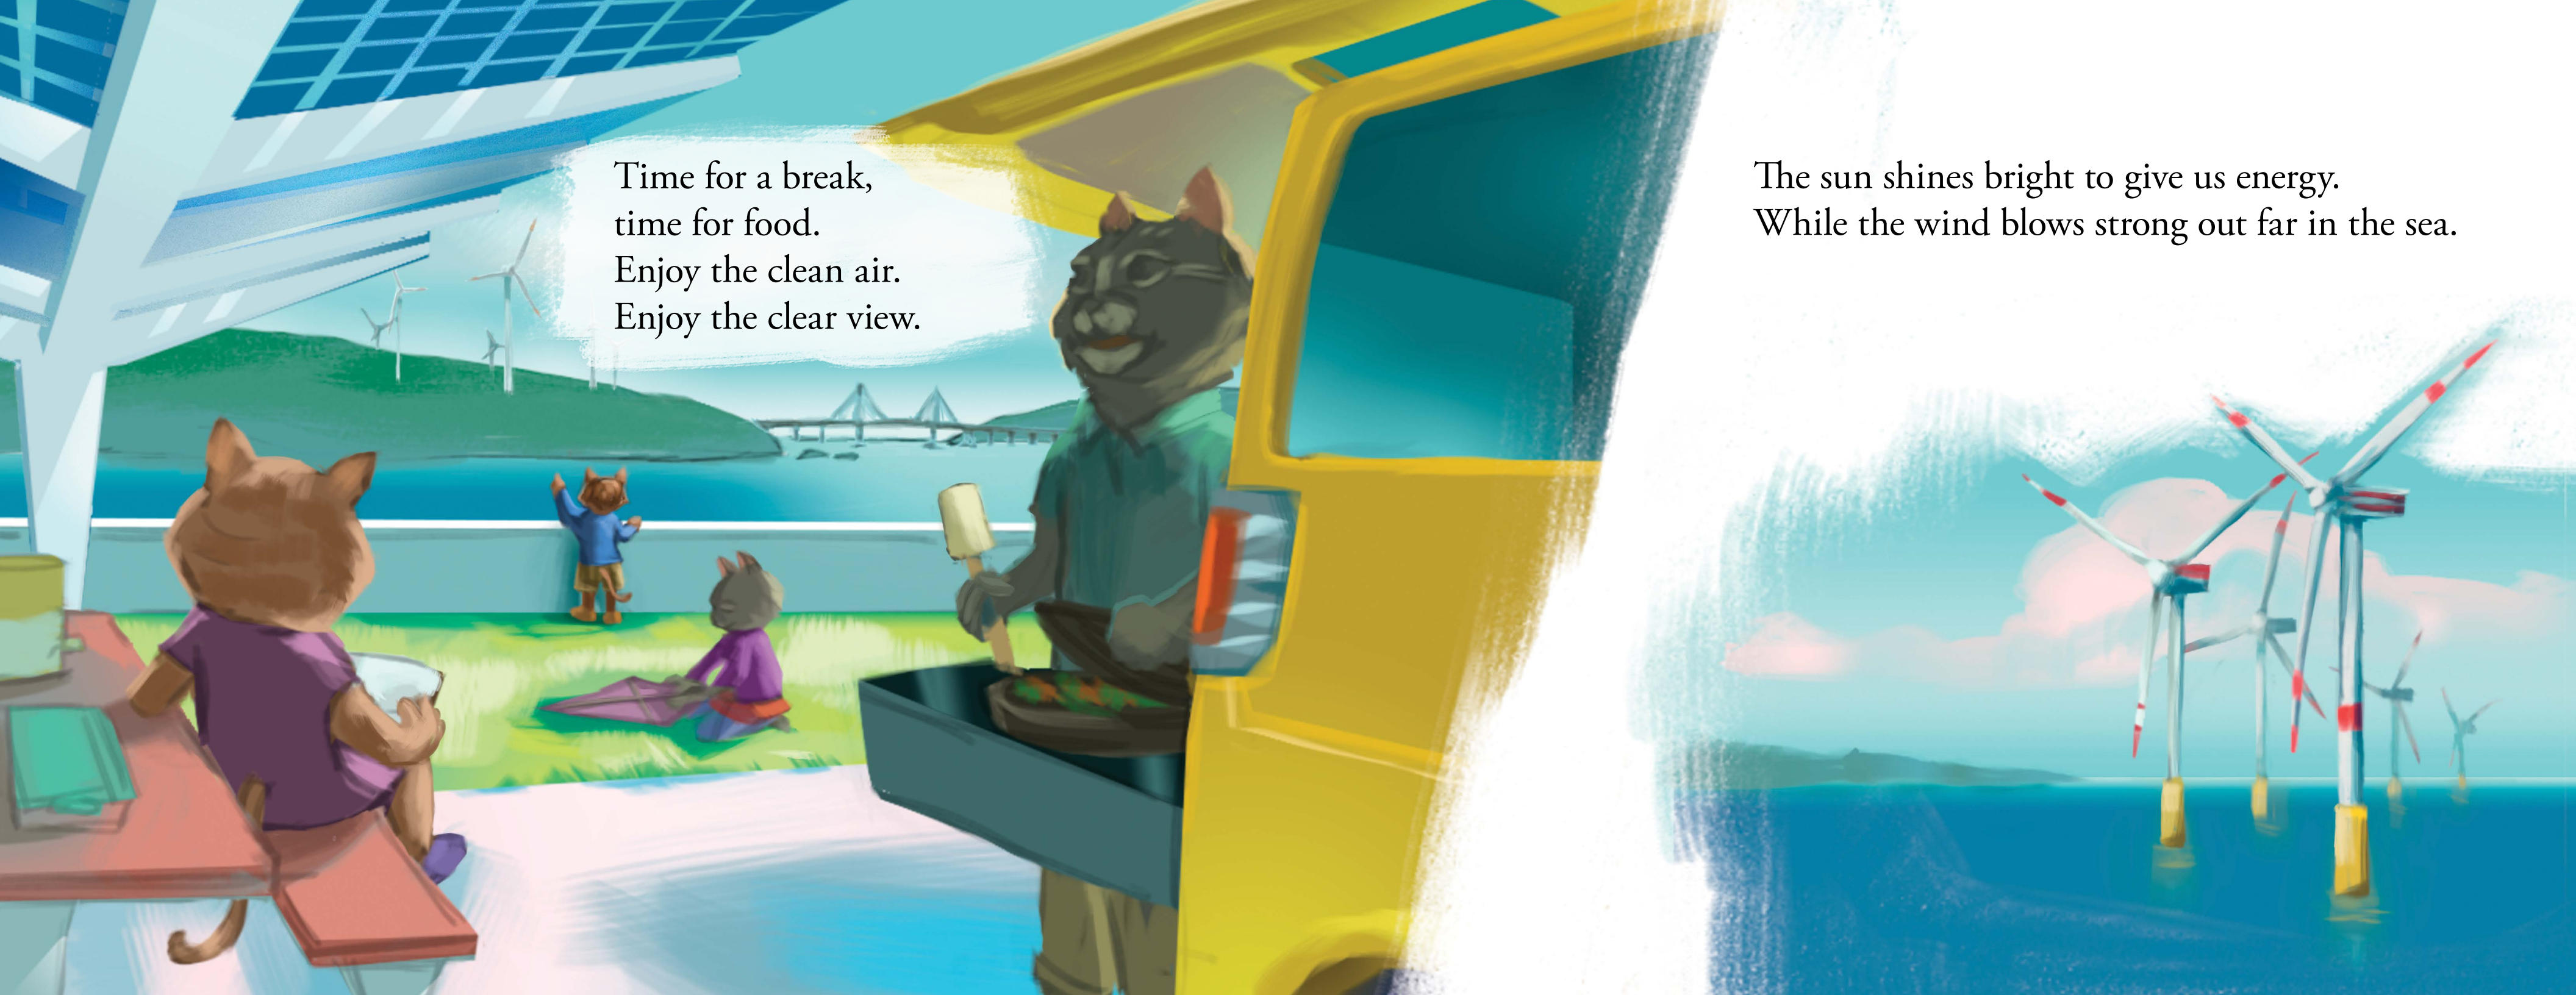

Spread the news!
Voting Day is here!
Shout it out for all to hear!

Voting is how
we lift our voice.
Voting is how we make our choice.

Time for a break,
time for food.
Enjoy the clean air.
Enjoy the clear view.

The sun shines bright to give us energy.
While the wind blows strong out far in the sea.

Now it's time to volunteer.
We drive neighbors far and near.

Clean buses give a safe and healthy ride.
We help people vote, so they can decide.

The kids say "All aboard!"
as people hop on.
"Can I close the door?"
"Can I sing the song?"

The wheels on the bus,
go round and round.
And the voters get a smooth
ride through town.

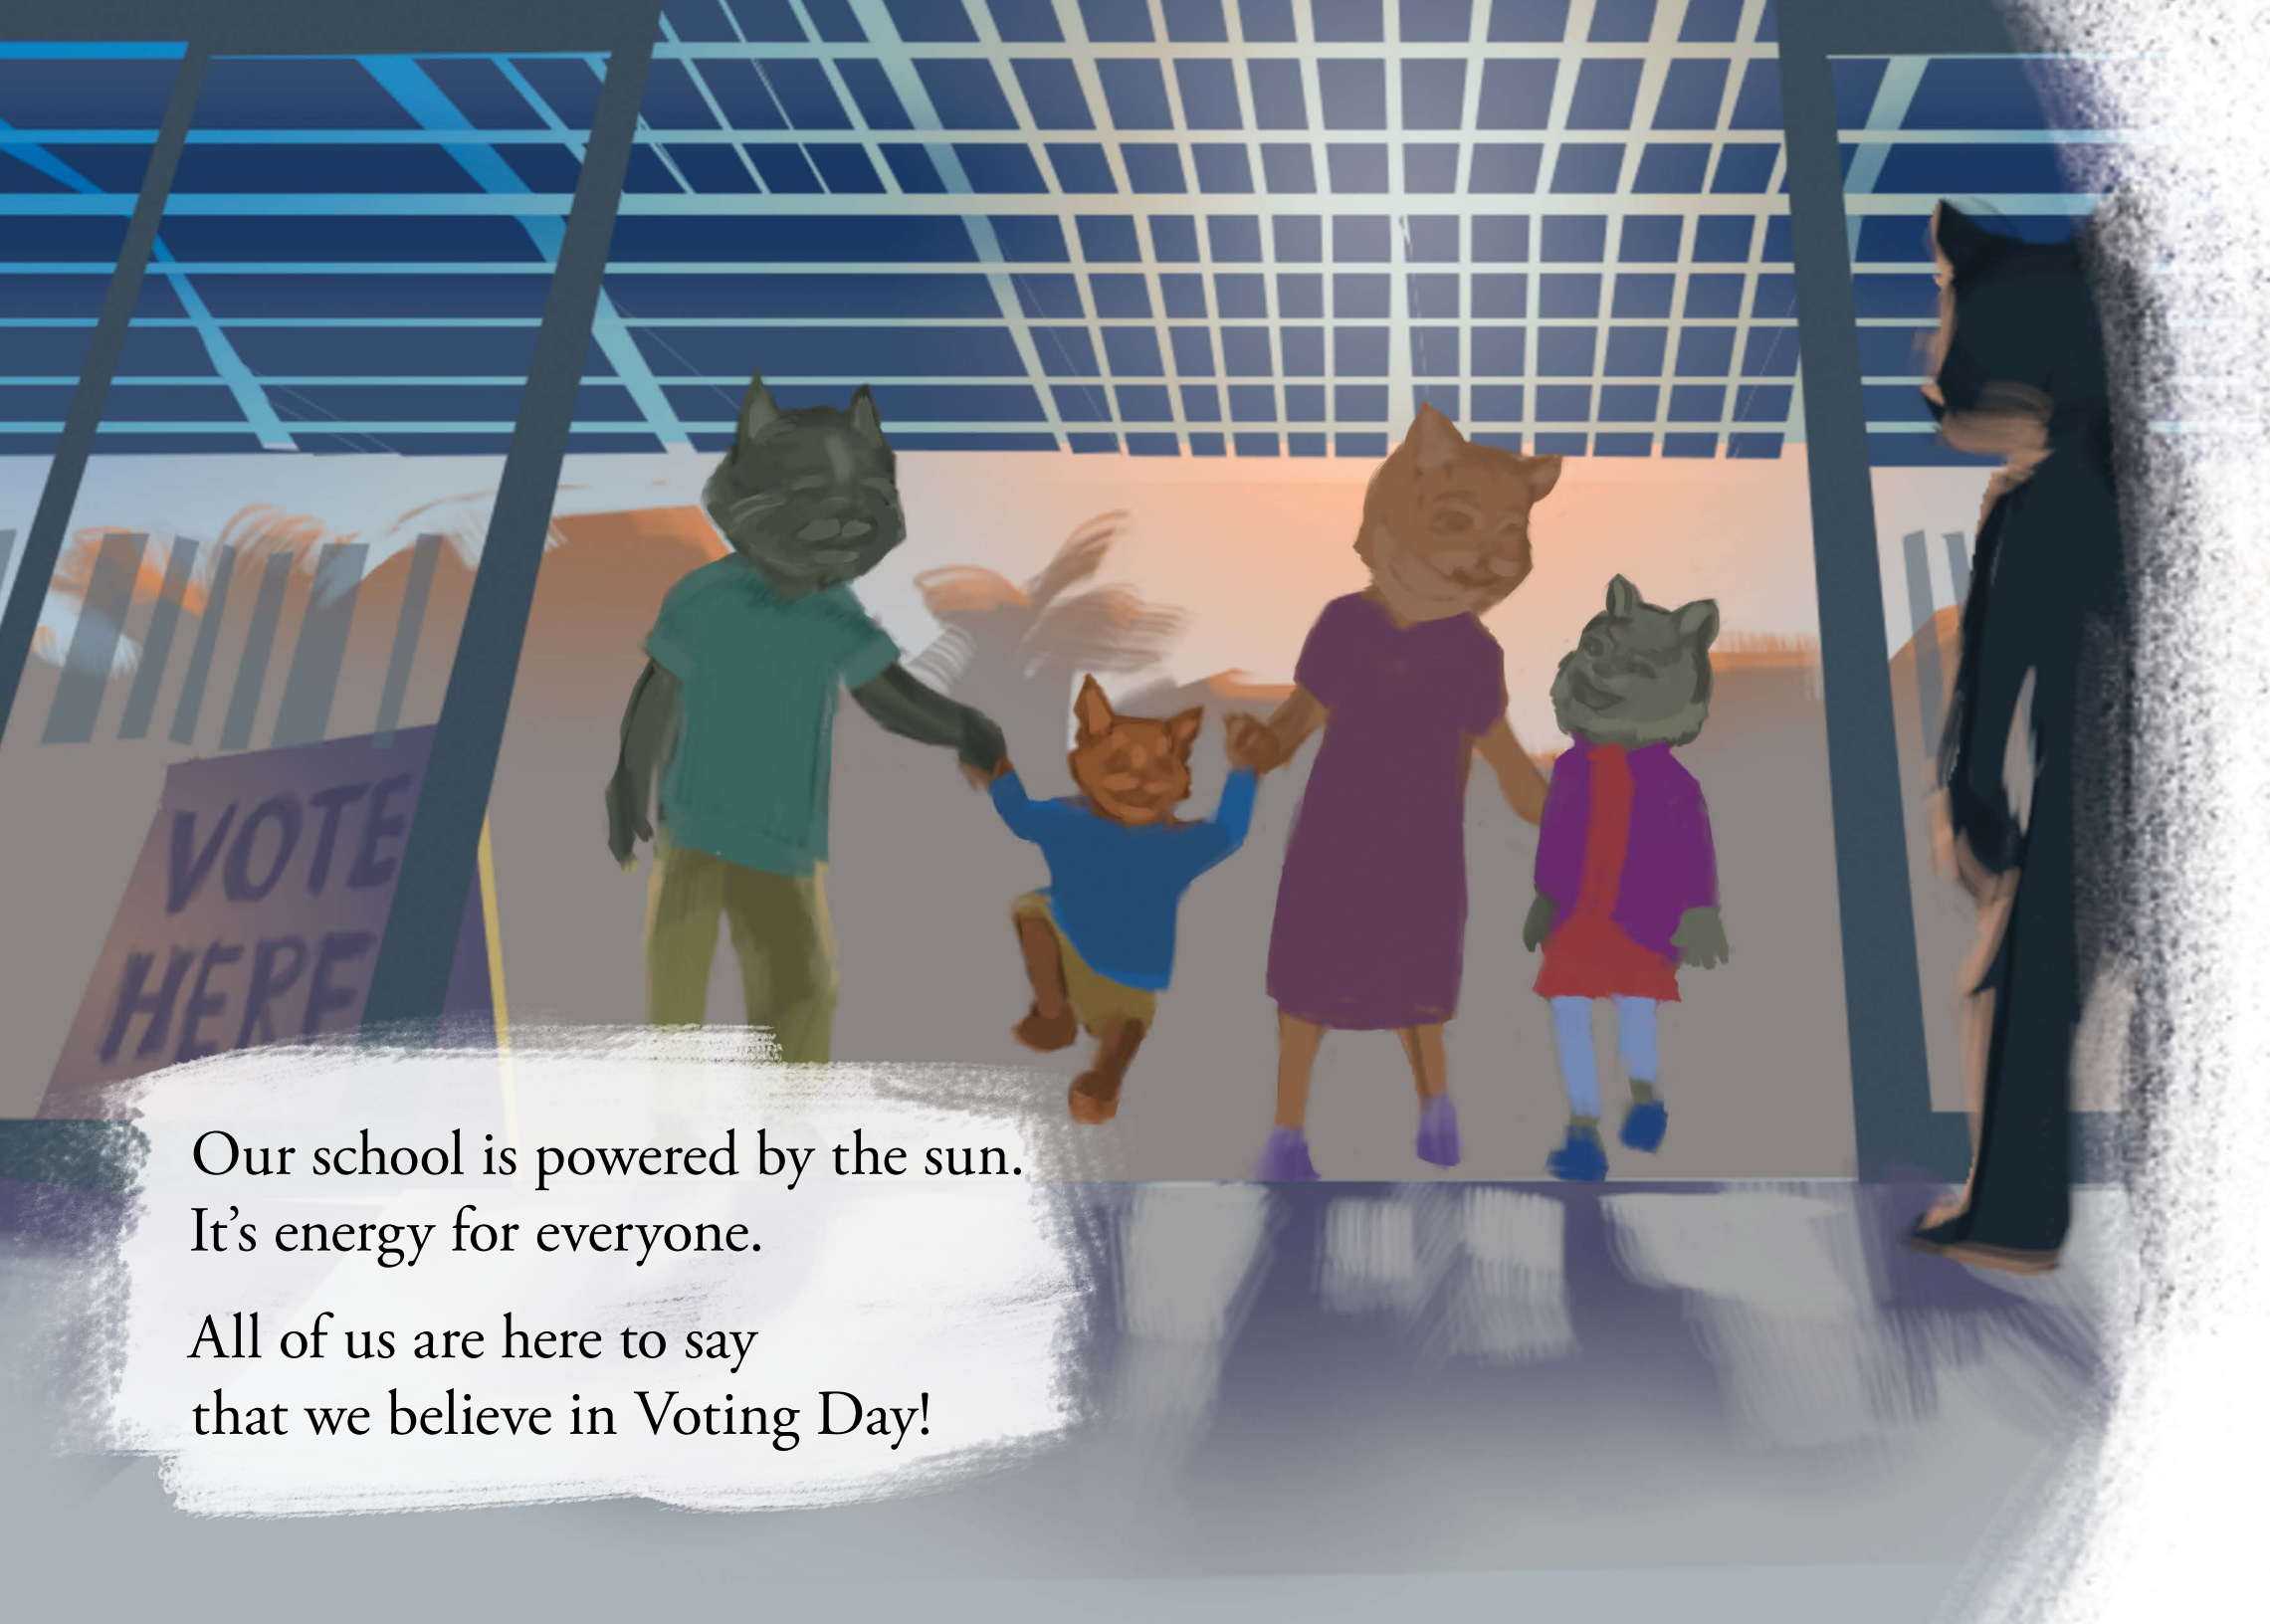

It's Voting Day! It's Voting Day!
We vote for what we need.

We need clear skies and clean air,
so we vote for clean energy.

Our school is powered by the sun.
It's energy for everyone.

All of us are here to say that we believe in Voting Day!

"I can't wait to vote
when I'm old enough.
I just know that I'll vote
for the right stuff."

"I know you will.
You're smart as can be.
You'll make the world
a better place, and voting is the key."

Generation180 is a non-profit working to inspire and equip people to take action on clean energy. We're reframing the narrative around energy and equipping people to take effective, meaningful action in their homes and communities.

You can learn more about our work at generation180.org.

Tatyana Orlovich is an illustrator from Rochester, NY. She and her husband Igor are EV owners and long time volunteers in the local clean energy community.

This her first fully illustrated book after completing a mentorship at The Oatley Academy.

You can learn more about her work at toart.us.

*The sun is up, the children too.
The day is bright. The day is new.
“Wake up! Wake up!” the children say.
“It’s Voting Day! It’s Voting Day!”*

An illustrated book that brings the joy and importance of voting to children.