THINK PAWSITIVE
BY ANDI METZ (33.5" X 43")

It's all about dogs, from the wonderful "dogs rule" print (a cool dog print featuring many of the most popular breeds), to prints with dog bones, hearts and paw prints, a very useable cut-away stripe, and a dogs in boxes print that includes popular sayings about our best friends (Example: "Just pawfect"). The dogs in this collection are painted beautifully and it is easy to tell that the artist/designer really loves these four legged friends. Think Pawsitive is perfect for any "dog" project: a dog bed, quilted dog coat, dog pillows for the living room or den, schoolhouse items (back packs, lunch bag) and so much more. Call today... it's so easy to think pawsitive!

NOTES

Nationally published artist with a wide array of fine and digital art. Andi enjoys illustration and photography but has talents across a wide range of design fields. Her work encompasses an strong balance between fine art and digital literacy. Andi is a former owner/operator of a graphic design and print shop with a diverse portfolio of projects including fabric design and patterns, children's book illustration, and product design. I love seeing my art come to life!

Artist Andi Metz has been painting and drawing since the age of three when she wrote and illustrated her very first book in crayons. Now, she enjoys painting with acrylics and gouache. You'll find Andi's art on many products for the home ~ mugs, tote bags, pillows, pictures and more. These products can be found in many retail stores such as Steinmart, Homegoods and Lowes. Andi's art has also found it's way to several lines of quilting fabric called by Kanvas/ Benartex fabrics. Andi has recently started a blog called "Art and other Sketchy Ideas, feel free to click here to view it.

Andi is an avid sewer and quilter who loves chocolate cake and enjoys sunny days at the shore with her husband and two sons. Her family includes a dog and two cats and she is often found fostering stray pups that come her way.
