A little about our modalities:

Synchronous/live streamed. This format allows the students to attend selected courses from their preferred location. Students must connect at the time of class and participate with the instructor and classmates who attend from various remote locations. Class is once a week. Instructions will be provided on how to join the class using computers, phones or tablets.

Online. Class is delivered 100% online once a week. Students may complete the class requirements on their own weekly schedule. Students will utilize the University of Dallas Learning Management System called Brightspace and be given technical and classroom instructions before classes begin.

We have instructors who have experience teaching online and in synchronous formats. In both formats, our instructors and staff will assist you in every way possible so that you feel comfortable with the technology. Our goal is to make you feel like you are in the classroom.
