SECTION 1: Fueled Collective's CODE

1. Be good: Behave well and treat others the way you would want to be treated. And if you don't walk the talk, then at the request of its members, other building tenants, or our own choosing, Fueled Collective will warn you to shape up in 30 days or ship out. We know it sounds tough, but Fueled Collective's community can be spoiled with one bad apple. Simply put, every membership is terminable by Fueled Collective with and without cause. Fueled Collective reserves the right, however, to terminate a membership if in its sole discretion, Fueled Collective determines immediate termination is warranted under the circumstances.
2. Be positive: Believe in yourself, believe in others, and especially believe in the collaborative power of the Fueled Collective community. Network. Collaborate. Work hard. Have fun. Improve the community for all. Please provide input to improve Fueled Collective for everyone.
3. Roll with the changes: Fueled Collective is an organic thing... an ecosystem. And like all such environments, Fueled Collective, will evolve and improve. This means that Fueled Collective may decide, with member input and observation or independently, that the rules need to change as well. So, while this is the Fueled Collective's CODE today, it is hard to predict the evolving needs of members. Therefore, it is your responsibility to check the Member portal for future changes to the Fueled Collective CODE and policies.
4. Make a commitment: Strong communities are based upon active members and continuity. One of the most amazing benefits of your membership is the relationships and encounters you have with other members.
5. Don't fight the law (it always wins): Violate the law and you're out. This means you won't use Fueled Collective for any purpose that is unlawful, including doing anything that could damage, disable or impair any of the property of Fueled Collective or keep other members from using the Fueled Collective space or would hurt other members. This also means you won't attempt to gain access to any computer systems or networks of Fueled Collective, or attempt to obtain any materials or information not intentionally made available to all Fueled Collective members. If you attempt to do any of these naughty things, your membership will be terminated immediately with notice from Fueled Collective.

6. You represent to Fueled Collective that you have the authority to be a member (even if it requires a note from your mother), and the authority to sign this Agreement, and ultimately live by the Fueled Collective Code. You promise that your membership won't be a breach of an agreement you have with someone else. You also acknowledge that you can't bind Fueled Collective or the community (in whole or part), or its other members.
7. Don't be slimy. Besides all this, you also agree not to use Fueled Collective in connection with:
  1. Contests, pyramid schemes, chain letters, junk email, spamming or similar annoying behavior;
  2. Defaming, abusing, harassing, threatening or otherwise violating the legal rights (such as privacy and publicity) of others; Posting, distributing or disseminating inappropriate, profane, defamatory, obscene, indecent, or unlawful material or information; Uploading, reproducing, using, performing or otherwise making available, images, software or other material or information which infringes another's rights, or is protected by intellectual property laws where you don't own or license such rights; and uploading or using files that contain viruses, corrupted files, or any other similar software or programs that may damage Fueled Collective or a member's computers or property.
8. Keep a secret: You acknowledge that during your membership at Fueled Collective, you are going to be exposed to confidential information such as business information, trade secrets, technology, customers and prospects, and other secret stuff, disclosed by Fueled Collective or by other members of Fueled Collective (including through your keen observation) that is confidential or proprietary in nature and simply just not known by others. It's plain and simple - you agree to keep it confidential and not to disclose or use such information. You understand that they remain the exclusive property of who disclosed them, and you don't acquire any rights to such information. If you are unsure if something is confidential - ask.
9. Be insured: Fueled Collective will carry General Liability and Business Personal Property insurance. As a member, it is strongly suggested that you carry an insurance policy of some type to cover your own equipment while using our space (or any anyone else's space for that matter). Fueled Collective cannot provide insurance for you or provide advice, so it is best to contact an insurance agent regarding your specific needs. With respect to your access to, participation in, use of the Fueled Collective space, or any loss of information or other property resulting from such participation or use you acknowledge that it is solely your responsibility to make sure you are properly insured against such losses, and acknowledge by signing this agreement a full waiver of liability for Fueled Collective.

10. Fueled Collective bans guns on its premises: The possession, carrying, or use of a firearm (including but not limited to handguns) or other weapon while on our premises is strictly prohibited. This prohibition applies to all members, including those who have a valid permit to carry a firearm. By signing this Agreement, you agree that you will not bring in or keep any firearms on the Premises. You acknowledge that your membership may be revoked should you fail to comply with this policy.
11. Respect the rules of the house: Please be aware that all Fueled Collective locations exist inside multi-tenant business buildings, which means that Fueled Collective members also must abide by the rules of the building. Basically, if you act professionally there will not be any problems. Please know that the Building's rules might change with time, so you're responsible for being aware of changes.
12. Fueled Collective Building Rules: The following rules and regulations have been formulated for the safety and wellbeing of all tenants of the Property by the building owners. Adherence to these rules and regulations is necessary to guarantee that every tenant (including the Fueled Collective community) will enjoy a safe and undisturbed occupancy of its premises. Fueled Collective's Landlord's reserve the right to amend these rules and regulations and to add additional rules and regulations.

There are unique rules for each location:

1. Fueled Collective Northeast Minneapolis: Pets are permitted as long as they don't cause concern or threat to other members. Fueled Collective reserves the right to remove a pet if it is causing problems. Pets must be under your control when not in your office or at your desk, and must not wander the halls alone. In addition, only two-footers are allowed in the kitchen area. And of course, any delightful things created by your dog will be your responsibility to pick up in/or around the building. 3. Bikes are permitted, and encouraged, at all Fueled Collective locations. Please keep bikes at designated storage areas, and make sure to clean up any debris produced by your bike in common and storage areas.
4. Children: While we love them, it is helpful to keep in mind that they do not have a membership. If you bring them to work with you, they need to stay with you. After all, if they are bugging you while you work, they likely will be doing the same thing to others if you let them loose. Please be respectful of others at work, and know that we might kindly ask them to leave. For extended stays (more than a single day), a Guest Pass must be purchased for all children

It is Fueled Collective's policy in accordance with the DMCA and other applicable laws to reserve the right to terminate the membership of any member who is either found to infringe a third party copyright or other intellectual rights, including repeat infringers, or who Fueled Collective believes in its sole discretion is infringing these rights.
