

Elijah Streb

Man U Man and the Wasp

It is a dark and cold night. A cloaked man slams through the door and into a dark parking lot lit only by a couple of flickering street lamps. As the figure reaches his car, another man comes bursting through the doors yelling, “Bakayaro! Get back here!” as he pulls out a gleaming silver locket rauncher. The man hugs the trigger and lets loose a massive fireball. The hooded figure jumps up, throws off his robe, and suddenly disappears in an instant. Or that's what you think. The scene cuts to a rooftop overlooking a city of tall lit up skyscrapers. Suddenly the cloaked man (who is cloaked no longer) jumps from the air to the roof, revealing his true identity: The Wasp. With the stolen object in hand, he glides from rooftop to rooftop down into a quiet street and enters an old red house. With his back to the camera, The Wasp walks down a dark hallway. He starts breaking into a run as he reaches the door, then disappears from sight. The scene then cuts to the room behind the door. Three men are around a lit table. They're The Wasp and his trusty sidekicks: Will, his hacker, and Peter, his plan maker and ramen chef.

“Did you get the goods?” asks Will.

“Of course I did,” answers The Wasp. He pulls out from behind his back the three Man U jerseys he had recovered from the mission and lays them flat on the table. They read Ryan Giggs, Wayne Rooney, and Nemanja Vidic. They put them aside and the three of them sit at the dinner table to eat steaming ramen with juicy pork slices, a mission night special. After they finish they grab the jerseys and start hanging them up on their wall of other objects they have recovered in the past such as the priceless clown painting. Now they have their most prized possessions, the three jersey's of the best players of all time from the soccer hall of fame. Abruptly the private line to HQ rings. Peter runs to pick it up.

“Uh huh, yeah, ok, will do sir.” He puts the phone down and says, “Aight boys, we got a mission from chief Schaeffer.” They suit up and take off in their minivan.

“So what's the mission Will?” asks Gyani.

“There's been an attack on a school. Lord Benny and his trusty ninja sidekick Quinn are the ones behind it all.” Replies Peter.

“I tracked his location,” says Will. “Let's go get em.” When they get there Lord Benny has already destroyed the buildings. Luckily they were already planning to rebuild. Peter went over the plan with Gyani one more time.

“And also, take this vitamin G,” Will handed him a small vial. Gyani took it and his calves became supersized. He ran with superspeed at Benny, shrunk into The Wasp and delivered a nasty kick to the face that would've knocked anyones head right off. But it didn't faze Benny. Gyani was freaked out. Maybe Benny was a zombie. He had just watched World War Z last night, so it could be possible. He ran back to the car to evade Benny's deadly hits. He got in the van and yelled, “Drive!” The minivan sped off. Benny was perplexed at his easy victory. Little did he know that when Gyani kicked him he had planted a bomb.

Two minutes later.

While looking back Gyani and his crew saw the huge explosion. Hopefully that ended the madness lord Benny started. As they loop around back to where they had just made their quick escape from, all they can see is smoke. “I can't see anything,” says Peter.

“Hold on one sec. I'm hacking into the school's security cameras so we can maybe see from outside the area of the explosion.” Explains Will. “Oh my goodness gracious. Look” Exclaims Will. He points to his screen right before the bomb goes off. As the video rolls, they see them driving away. Right after they are out of view Benny's sidekick Quinn appears and hurries over to Benny. Quinn reaches for Benny's ear and plucks something off of him. The Bomb. Quinn hurls the device straight up into the air and watches it blow up when it reaches peak height. Then Will cuts to the current feed. It shows Lord Benny and Quinn standing side by side looking up into the sky probably awaiting their extraction.

“Quickly. They're straight ahead,” Gyani urgently says. Peter steps on the gas pedal. All of a sudden. Thunk, blump. The van comes to a screeching halt. Gyani gets out of the car to find Lord Bennie unconscious on the ground. “Dude, you knocked him out.” They load Lord Benny into the back of the van. Then Quinn comes out of nowhere and attempts to kick Gyani. But Gyani is too fast and dodges it. He then lunges at Quinn and in one quick motion does a bicycle kick so strong that Quinn's head goes flying 57 yards and hits the school soccer net bar down. Everyone cheers in amazement at this tremendous win. The three men load the two bodies into the back of the van and bring them back to HQ to lock them up. And that is how Gyani and his trusty team saved the Waring school from Lord Bennie.