AVEVA™ System Platform, formerly Wonderware

A complete industrial automation solution

AVEVA System Platform is the world's only responsive, scalable solution for supervisory, SCADA, MES, and IIoT applications that integrates the process with the enterprise. AVEVA System Platform provides a collaborative, standards-based foundation that unifies people, processes, and assets across all facilities for continuous operational improvement and real-time decision support.

Enforce Standards to Achieve Operational Excellence

AVEVA System Platform enables standardization across a wide range of industrial and manufacturing operations by eliminating inconsistent practices through a unified information model, asset templates and data-driven responsive visualization across desktop clients, mobile devices, web browsers and the cloud. This results in lowest total system life-cycle costs and improved quality.

Flexibility to Ensure Operational Agility

With drag-and-drop simplicity, you can effectively respond to demands for increased performance, capacity expansion and retrofits without being constrained by prior application deployment decisions.

AVEVA System Platform enables unique operational agility by completely separating the application design environment from the execution infrastructure environment. Customers can build and test in one environment and then move the entire application to a multi-node production environment without having to modify the application at all. The engineering environment can even exist in the cloud, enabling collaboration across remote teams.

Grow at the Speed of Your Business

AVEVA System Platform provides you with the means to incrementally add-on additional capability when required by business needs. AVEVA System Platform offers plug-in extension applications such as MES, workflow, quality, batch and enterprise Integration for sustainable production and continuous operations improvement.

More importantly, due to the open, modular platform approach seamless integration of applications is possible without abandoning prior investments in automation and information systems, production processes, or intellectual property.
