Investment Manager's overview for the six-month period ended 31 March 2020

Market review

The six months under review have been volatile in financial markets. Economic data, trade wars, Brexit and political uncertainty were all contributory factors, but the scale of the coronavirus pandemic – and its implications for the global economy – has been overwhelmingly the primary influence on markets.

While bond yields rose in many government markets in the final three months of 2019, corporate bond markets performed well as risk appetite remained strong. In investment grade markets, spreads were materially tighter with the US and sterling markets leading the way. High yield and emerging markets were also strong. European high yield indices were approximately 60 basis points (bps) tighter, leading to some good returns. This more positive environment for risk assets came about as global economic data appeared to be picking up modestly and a 'phase one' trade deal between the US and China was agreed. Global central banks also appear to be prepared to maintain – or even extend – their accommodative stances going forward, thus providing further confidence.

However, everything changed in the first quarter of 2020 – and, in particular, the final weeks of the review period. The Covid-19 pandemic gradually spread West from January. However, it was only in the second half of the period – after supply-chain disruption turned into full-scale countrywide lockdowns – that risk assets started aggressively pricing in this seismic event. Spreads in investment-grade, high-yield and emerging-markets bonds were all pushed sharply wider and these asset classes delivered sizeable negative returns. Central banks and governments were forced to take action with rate cuts, bond-buying programmes and a variety of fiscal measures all implemented to mitigate the financial and/or economic problems caused by the lockdowns. Despite these actions, spreads in high-yield corporate bonds now reflect a view that defaults will increase materially, and all risk assets are indicating significant economic stress. The high-yield market in Europe fell almost 15% and emerging market sovereign bonds declined a similar amount. Energy-related industries and countries were among the worst affected areas, with an oil supply disagreement between Saudi Arabia and Russia adding further distress.

Performance and activity of the Fund

Performance was strong in the first three months of the review period. While an overweight exposure to falling yields cost performance in October as yields rose, this was more than offset by the Fund's overweight to credit market movements. Annington Finance, Tesco Property and Well Tower were notable outperformers. Against that, there was underperformance from gilt positions. In November, we reduced the Fund's exposure to M&G and Barclays as part of a general reduction in financial bonds. Most outperformance relative to benchmark came from the Fund's overweight position in credit risk – notably, insurance bonds. Asset allocation among sectors was also beneficial, and an underweight stance in government-related bonds helped. We added a position in AbInBev, a global brewing group, and participated in new Issues from National Express and Fidelity National Information. Most of December's outperformance came from an overweight position in credit risk. In particular, UK bank and insurance names rallied strongly after the UK general election result.

In January, the Fund benefited from its holdings in UK real estate, utilities and UK banks. With the growth of the number of cases of coronavirus, we sold a number of positions that could be exposed. These included Intercontinental Hotels; around 8% of its revenue is derived from the Chinese market, and GM; the company could struggle to sort out supply chain difficulties caused by factory shutdowns in China. We reduced exposure to Heathrow for similar reasons. In February, we sold some of our HSBC exposure, owing to political unrest in Hong Kong and mounting concerns about the coronavirus. We increased our exposure to BAT to a more neutral stance, given good recent results. We added Verizon and Comcast to the Fund.

Underperformance in March came from the Fund's long-standing overweight position in credit risk. Against that, security selection was a large positive. So, too, was asset allocation within sectors. We sold EIB 2021 and Apple 2029 to raise liquidity. HSBC 2033 was sold to further reduce exposure to the group. Phoenix Group was sold in early March to reduce subordinated insurance exposure. Barclays 2024 was reduced. We bought EDF hybrids to gain exposure to a largely French state-owned entity cheaply. We bought Barclays 10% 2021 bond due to its short-dated nature and very high yield given very little default risk. Fidelity National Information was topped up. We also bought some Royal Bank of Canada 2026 bonds at attractive levels.

Outlook*

With the UK in complete lockdown, it is now a waiting game to see what the overall impact of Covid-19 will be. The chancellor did announce "whatever it takes". However, there are limitations to what fiscal policy can achieve. From an economic perspective, we will need to wait to see the extent of the damage. From a gilt perspective, we expect the Bank of England's QE programme to kick-in and ensure both the functioning of the market, and to keep yields low and well behaved. For corporate bonds, much now depends on the longevity of the virus. Spread markets have rapidly priced in a very gloomy outlook. As an asset class, investment grade is now relatively attractive if the virus is contained and economic activity starts to pick up over the coming quarter. The shock to earnings and dividends will be severe and credit quality and ratings will deteriorate, but some value has emerged over recent weeks.
