

Make school payments easier for everyone

Whether it's processing annual school fees or buying lunch and paying for printing, managing payments is a time consuming task for schools and parents.

Running into school to pay an excursion fee, topping up printing credit or chasing up late term fees - the tasks are varied and all require manual intervention.

Schools have a myriad of options available to manage the thousands of transactions processed every year. Each method has its pros and cons, so this simple table will help you compare the most common payment systems used in schools.
