

2020 Review:

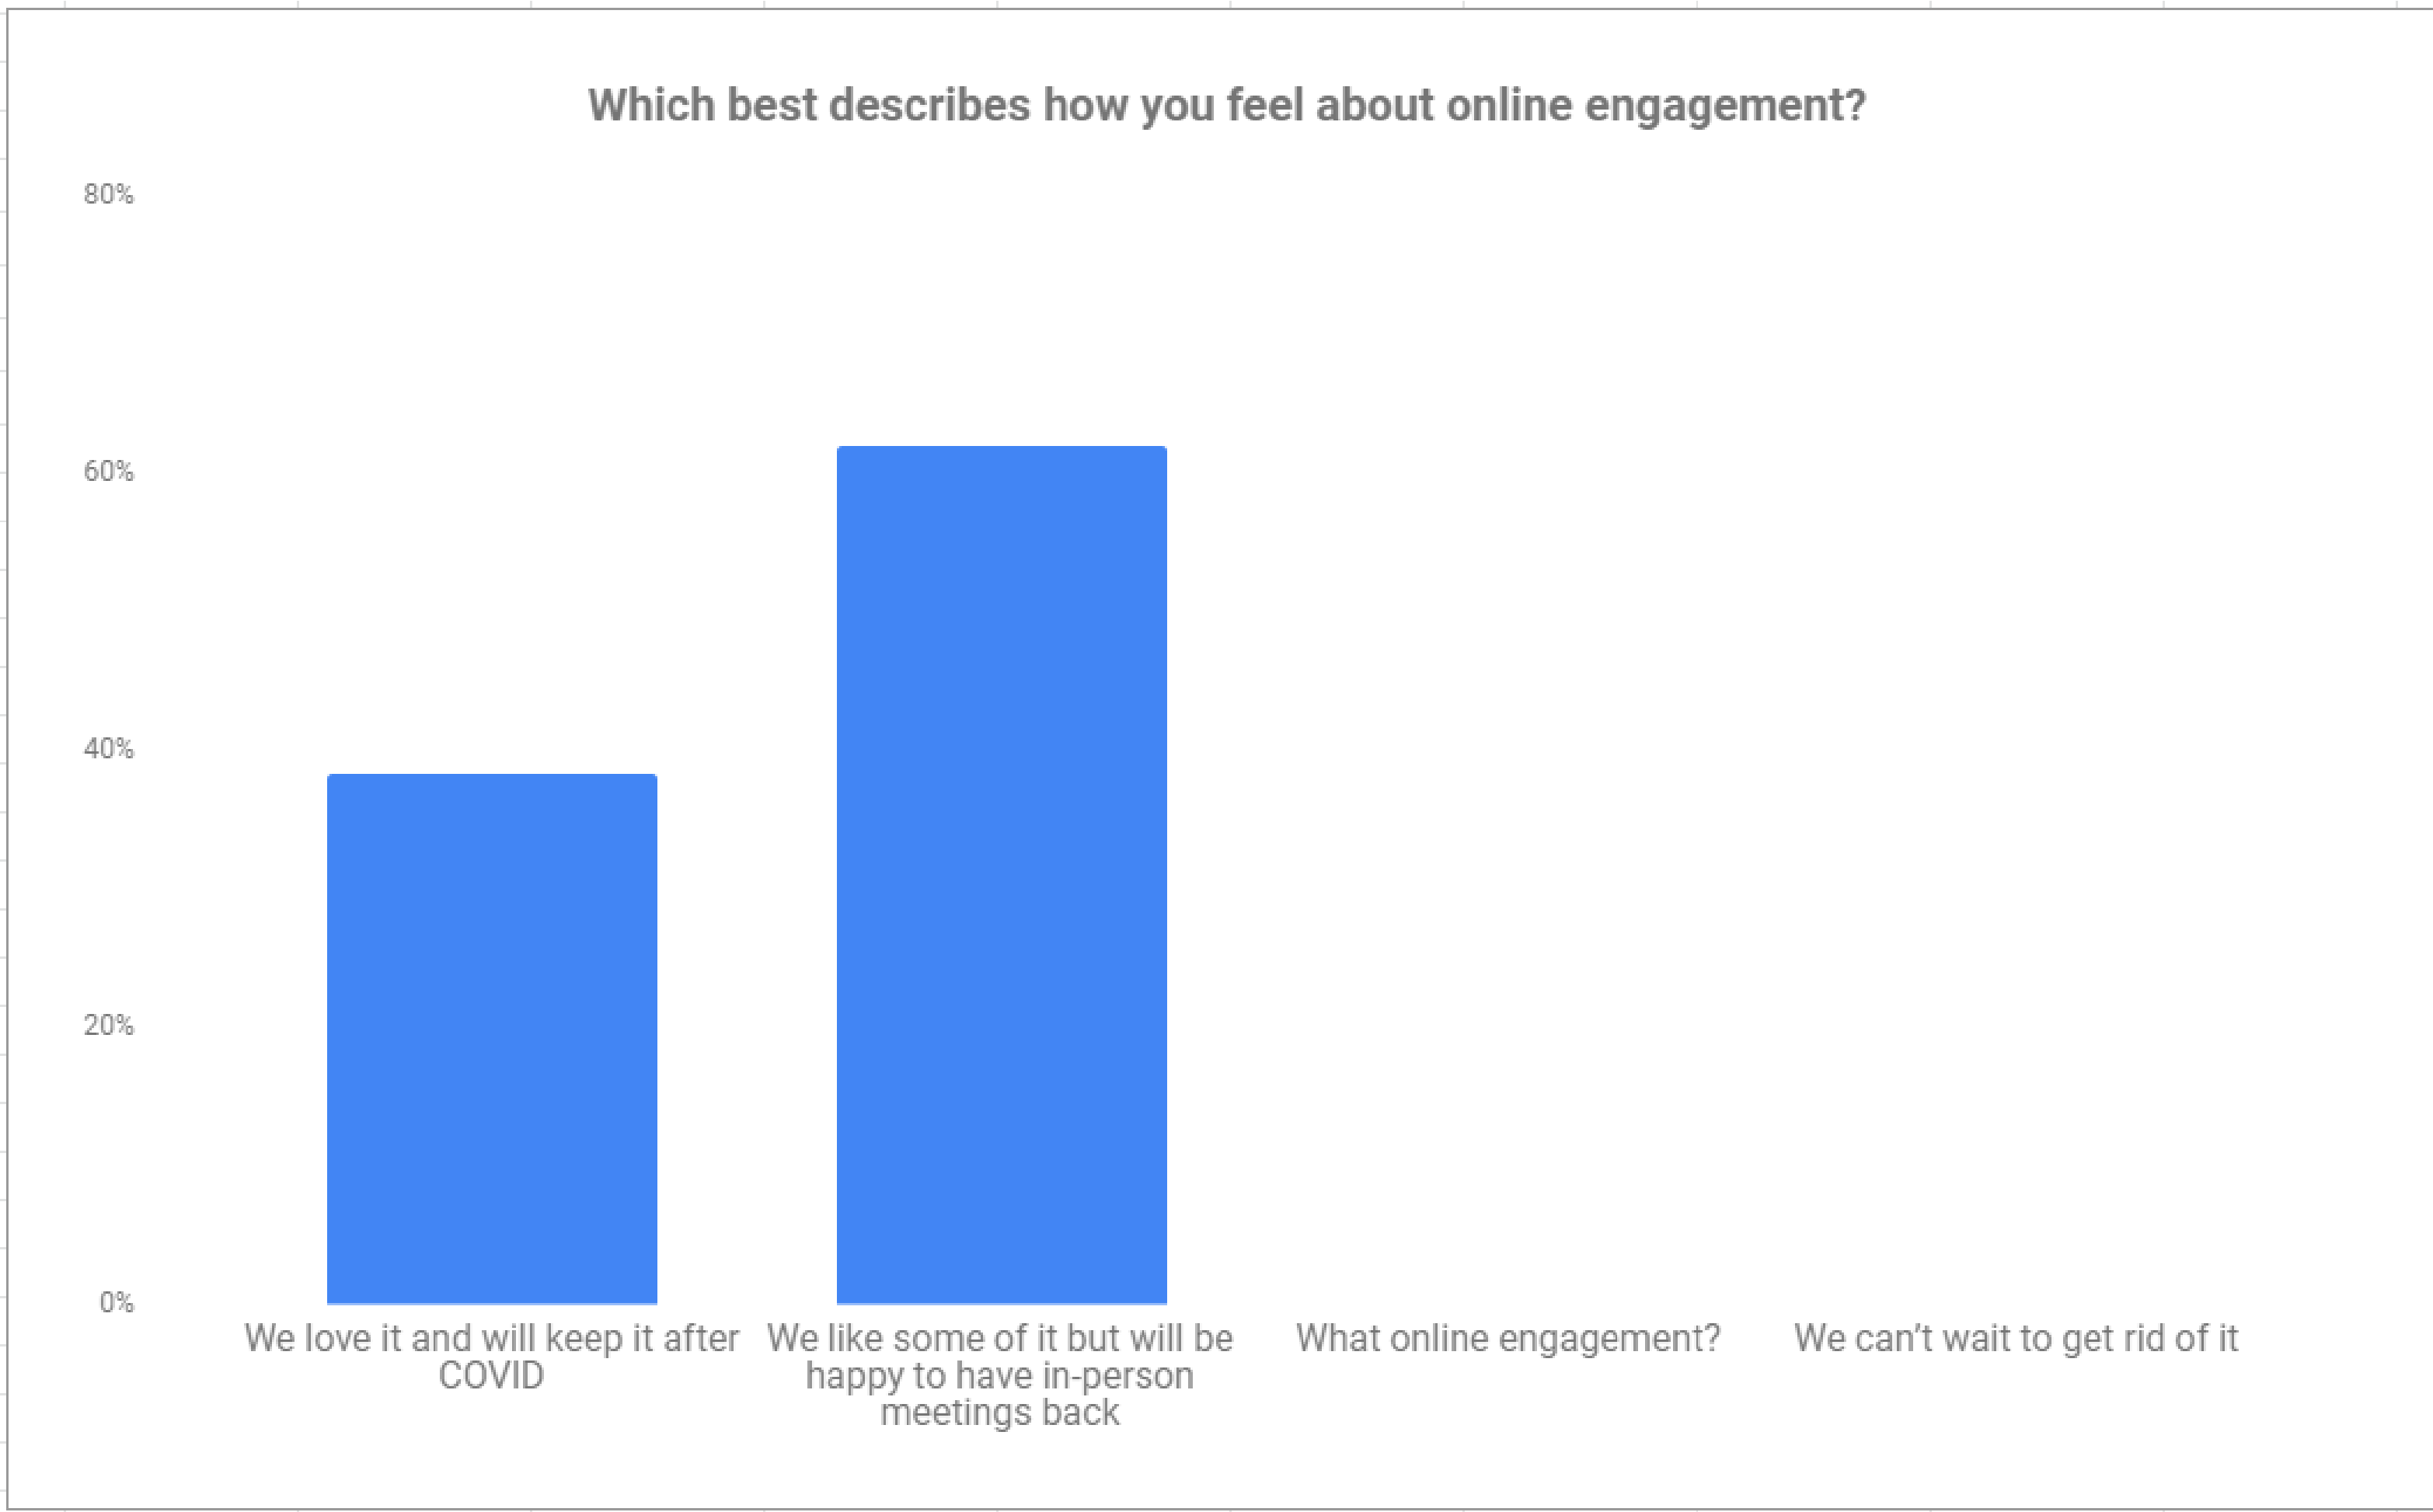

Lessons Learned in Community Engagement to help you Succeed in 2021

Poll Results

What one word comes into your mind when you think about engagement with the public this past year?

Which best describes how you feel about online engagement?

We love it and will keep it after COVID

We like some of it but will be happy to have in-person meetings back

What online engagement?

We can't wait to get rid of it

What is your biggest hope for 2021? Are there topics you' like to see us cover next year?

Finesse/improve digital engagement

hearing from more diverse voices in our communities

Getting our organization in the habit of participating in the big conversations we need to have. Engagement doesn't have to be painful!

My biggest hope is to make sure my community engagement results make a difference in my presentation to Councils on the climate plan.

Hybrid Meeting & Engagement Platforms to allow both in person and online to work together (perhaps also a topic idea for future conversation as we haven't found something that doesn't have a delay involved and is seamless)

equity and inclusion

More acceptance of science by the American public

Biggest hope is to be able to reach various stakeholders throughout the community to build a stronger voice for climate action in our community.

more intimacy building connections

Discovering the tools / platforms, new opportunities, ideas and energy from our citizens in 2021 for implementing the action in our new Climate Action Plan

Transitioning to a "new normal" for hybrid (online and in-person) engagement post-vaccines.
