Hogan Design & Construction Designated As A Specially Adapted Housing (SAH) Remodeler and Home Builder For Northern Illinois Veterans and Their Families

Geneva, IL (July 2, 2020) – The transition from military service to civilian life can be challenging, especially for veterans who have sustained serious disabilities that limit their mobility and restrict their independence. As a Specially Adapted Housing (SAH) builder with 20 years of industry experience, Hogan Design & Construction (HDC) is poised and committed to helping disabled veterans realize the kind of barrier-free living that allows them to be as mobile, unimpeded, and independent as possible in their own homes.

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) offers SAH grants for eligible disabled veterans who require financial assistance to make an existing home accessible or to buy or build a new one that suits their physical needs. By giving severely disabled vets a way to live more independently in their homes, SAH grants help wounded warriors improve their quality of life and restore normalcy to their daily routine. Most SAH grants are typically used in one of three ways:

- Remodel an existing home to make it fully accessible
- Build a fully accessible or specially adapted home
- Acquire a fully accessible or specially adapted home

“Hogan Design & Construction has always supported our amazing servicemen and women. As a designated VA SAH remodeler and home builder, we look forward to giving back to the American Heroes in our region,” said Brian Hogan, Owner of Hogan Design & Construction (HDC). “Our entire team stands ready to improve the quality of life for veterans and their families, making daily sacrifices for our freedom.”

As a full-service builder/remodeler, HDC specializes in both types of SAH grant projects (new construction and existing home renovations). Most veterans use their grant money to renovate an existing home, as opposed to using it to offset the higher cost of building from scratch.

Established in 2000, Hogan Design & Construction (HDC) is celebrating 20-years in business. HDC is residential and commercial remodeler and home builder with specialized expertise in the following areas; Specially Adapted Housing (SAH), Adaptive Living. HDC is also an ADA Aging-In-Place Specialist. At HDC, we use our vision to see the world as it is and as it could be. Our unique and innovative process starts with building strong customer relationships that continue with expectations surpassed. HDC is deeply rooted within the communities in which we live & work.
