

QA Analyst (Mid to senior level)

i-nexus provides cloud strategy execution software to leading global brands aspiring to excel at strategy execution.

You should be smart, dynamic and independent thinking person with at least 3 to 5 years of commercial software testing experience.

You will be working within our Agile development team based in the central Midlands but fully remote. The team prides itself on the quality of work produced and practices the very best in software development methodologies, techniques and tooling.

The ideal candidate is somebody who is great at:

- Teamwork
- Communication, both written and verbal
- Attention to detail
- Uncovering problems

As part of your day-to-day activity, you will:

- Be part of a skilled scrum team which takes a dedicated agile and test-driven approach to software development.
- Have a good understanding of the Agile Testing Process.
- Collaborate in designing original solutions to our customers' complex business problems.
- Contribute to our flagship product, used by thousands of end-users worldwide.
- Use your experience in manual, exploratory and regression testing of a web application.
- Work in a friendly, informal, and intellectually stimulating virtual workplace with talented and experienced software developers and testers.
- Seek to enhance the quality of testing processes and share ideas for improvement within QA and development.

It will be good if you already have experience of:

- BDD, SQL, Java/Selenium, Github
- Load and performance testing of web applications with tools such a JMeter.
- Testing web services using SoapUI or other similar tools.
- ISEB Certification.

We will support you as you become a highly valued member of our team and pay a competitive starting salary depending upon your experience, skill level and aptitude.

Please send your CV to Deepak Kumar, the Development Manager.

About i-nexus

i-nexus provides cloud strategy execution software to leading global brands aspiring to excel at strategy execution. Its scalable, enterprise grade platform is deployed within multiple global blue-chip businesses, predominantly based across the US and Europe.

By digitalizing how companies manage the strategic planning process, from developing robust strategic plans to overseeing their delivery and measuring results for data-driven decision making, i-nexus customers achieve breakthrough performance by delivering more strategic goals at pace.

From transformational initiatives across entire organizations to business unit-specific programs, i-nexus strategy execution software is the choice of leaders tasked with aligning people and results to business-critical goals.