

THE POOL

The Pool proposes a new type of icon where water and art come together with human interaction. A landmark that you do not only visit once in your life, but rather every week or every day; where the Silicon Valley community integrate with an international public visiting in awe the transparent 9x Olympic swimming pool, elevated two hundred feet high; where knowledge and technological progress is discussed while resting from swimming laps; where brilliant minds can reflect over the sky and water on the new discoveries of science and technology. A classless utopia within the "oil of the 21st century".
