

"Me We", is a poem by Muhammad Ali in response to a shouting student: "Give us a poem, Muhammad!!" It is tied for the shortest poem composed, yet offers a world of understanding.

Urban Confluence Silicon Valley: "Give us an architecture!!" Give us an architecture that resonates this very moment in time, this moment in place, against and amongst this continuing history of ourselves amongst each other.

The proposal is a simple line, usually drawn to divide and non-spatial. The project attempts to inhabit the line and in Occupying this Division, can reveal "Me" between ourselves, "We" amongst each other.
