

FULL CIRCLE

Full Circle is full of life. Like the second full moon that was the San Jose Light Tower, Full Circle integrates natural, social, and technological systems. 1500 upcycled and circularly-perforated shipping containers confirm circular-economy sustainability and global consciousness—evoking pixels, indicator arrays, and especially 1's and 0's. From two small footprints, Full Circle spectacularly yet sensitively bridges the natural crossroads of Guadalupe Park: an architectural and natural landscape in which to roam and gather. That roaming leads to a rooftop high-line promenade, and piezoelectrically powers a radically low-resolution screen broadcasting the park's natural patterns.
