

The World of Today -- Project Summary File

Utilizing a spherical monumental form, "World of Today" is analogous to Silicon Valley's reputation for being the global center for high technology and innovation. With an overt reference to the "Perisphere" of the 1939 New York World's Fair, this project creates a pure interior spherical space and surrounding observation areas that look both inward and outward.