

the inclined object as to create an alternative to primary round crater impact carbon powder on paper by the participant

