

COME TOGETHER

“Come Together” is a tribute to the diversity and innovation of Silicon Valley. The arched structure of illuminated, interconnected rings creates a virtual umbrella to serve as a community gathering place. Through subtle movement of light within each ring the artwork bridges the natural landscape and the built environment. The open architecture invites physical exploration, introspection and engagement through collective experience. Linked and rotating, its movements comprise a network of infinite possibilities which is at once universal and recognized as being attributable to this singular location.
