

Landmarks have also evolved from statues and arches to towers executed with the help of innovative technology and engineering. What if the new icon can infuse the symbology of statue of liberty with contemporary technological innovation of CN tower? What if the landmark can inspire awe from a distance while providing with an increase in excitement as you move towards and reaching the peak could be an adventurous feat? What if the icon is built with advanced technology but is still sustainable? The proposal responds to the above-mentioned questions with a striking dynamic tower.
