

This proposal Artefacts of Virtual Realities contains eight elements of different forms that interact with their context. These elements contain spaces or perspectives of the surroundings. They have different types of interaction, some with the sky, others with their context or with their form. These shapes are going to have green fluorescent panels that glow in the dark and are also going to be painted green. They also complement a landscape project that shapes the site with a different pattern which infuses with what was there before. These landscapes are going to be representative of the environment of California.
