

The Confluence Tower project in Downtown San Jose features an elevated pedestrian and bicycle Bridge flowing along Guadalupe River and Los Gatos Creek, culminating in a 196 feet tall tower with a spiraling inner ramp, offering panoramic views of the cityscape and an exhibition space for local Public Art. The Tower, set above the confluence of two rivers, is inspired by traditional Ohlone Basketry. The Confluence Point symbolizes a union of Nature and Technology, Tradition and Innovation. Arena Green park becomes a green haven, and the Confluence Tower marks it as a meeting point for the people of San Jose.
