

Project statement

- The vortex is the name of the project and this explains the main goal of the project and is to become an icon for the past, present and future. Hence, the idea of the design was formed to be a picture of the stages of human life, which consists of several circles that resemble the vortex in its movement. That widens with age, from the beginning its circle is limited to parents and home and with the growing old expand to include the school and some friends and with age it begins to fluctuate so that many elements enter and the center of attention changes and then returns to calm again with the identification of future phases until the person calms and ends His life and thus the project reflects the scenario of the human journey through the main building that includes a museum, library, and some gift shops. It reflects the past and the present. The left part of the building represents the past or the museum that tells about the great history of civilization and how it developed into an important technological capital and is reflected through The quiet design of the façade that inspires the stages of human life in the beginning, then the circles begin to widen to include more people and buildings and some fluctuations of life and become difficult and overlapping in one way or another, and this is how it is reflected through.

-The design of the right part of the building, which contains the library, where the human present is to be completed only through the promotion of culture, and then it becomes clear the future of man and this is the beginning of a new journey that the visitor will feel as soon as there is a quality on the bridge to feel the true vortex that is transferred to the future gate, the world of money and Business and technology, through the presence of a building that includes branches of some of the technology companies and shops that sell their products, show, and a restaurant complex, and so will be the end of the trip.
