

Project Summary (The GreenLight)

GreenLight is a new prototype of a landmark in San Jose that contains an interpretation of the old Electric Light Tower into contemporary language. It attempts to avoid the stationary landmark but instead, provoke public participation, different activities, and ever-changing landmark through duality concept; Green and Light. Each element majorly manipulates the spaces of the landmark at different times (day and night) and provides different programs according to the users. GreenLight will function as a central hub that gathers different users as a landmark while continues the spiritual originality of former Light Tower.
