

Green Valley

Like the transistor was invented and San Jose became Silicon Valley, here is Green Valley where its own energy production and greenery make harmony.

Artificial photosynthesis using solar panels produces its own energy. The park provides an experiential space of light, water and plants.