

People go to the light...

A structure of less than 200 feet above the ground, both sculptural and architectural – a Light Tower. A challenge icon that attempts to bring up communities, people from different backgrounds to one public space to reach the limit. A tower that emphasizes both innovation and a basic element – the light.

Eloquence and presence. The metaphor of light, space, both history and future.