TOWER CYCLE

An animated, interactive tower in the iconic shape of an hourglass. The tower features a semi-transparent catenary envelope covered by 4 million lights on the outside and inside, creating a changing open-air display: the landmark can be animated by the heartbeats of participants measured with a phone app, it can present art, it can become a data display. Four elevators and a spiral staircase take visitors up to a spectacular viewing platform, where a glass oculus let's visitors see down into the staircase. Solar and visitor kinetic energy is harvested to power the piece, which represents the region's ingenuity.
