

Project Summary:

Inspired by the most basic elements the information technology is built upon: “0” and “1”, the design uses a simple form to rise from the surface and will become the focal point of Guadalupe River Park. The Sky Ladder tells the story of Silicon Valley as a place where power of technology and creativity touches the world. The structure doesn’t scream its name. Instead, it hides in the day to reflect the natural beauty of the park and shimmers at night. Connected to the existing park system, Sky Ladder provides visitors, workers and residents a place to gather, to calm, and to think beyond.
