

Metallurgic combines a polished sheet metal or stainless steel exterior to represent a raw silicon mineral, and making up the shell of a multi-storied civic space, an exterior pavilion consisting of steel, aluminum, and black granite is used to represent a 16 pin microcontroller chip, a staple of computing. The upper deck is covered with a canopy of solar panels to mitigate demand on resources. This design is intended for the West Side plot.