A weightless monument, The Ribbon delicately weaves through the treetops of Arena Green, flickering like a flame into the distance and subtly dissolving into the sky. Its deep valleys and wide arches frame views of the surrounding landscape and San Jose's skyline, and invite community activity in the plaza below. At nighttime the softly illuminated profile will be seen at a great distance, its shape subtly changing with each shift in view point like a ribbon dancing in the wind. The Ribbon will be a modern landmark for Silicon Valley and the City of San Jose.
