

Title: Common Ground
Project Summary

The light tower is conceived as an urban form that provides public space for civic function and community activism. The tower is an architectural object to project art, images of public awareness, and cinema, and provides an inclusive, open space for the city of San Jose. This project is an anti-monument. Instead of creating a sculptural object that celebrates nothing, our proposal is conceived as a platform to project ideas of common ground for new urban possibilities.
