

Project Statement:

Initially, we focus to create an architectural piece that is an international attire. Where people will perceive it as a modern masterpiece to go visit and learn more about which will lead into introducing the city wider. We create an organic form that's loaded with the technology necessities for the show and the environment around it.

Afterwards, by this project we aim to translating the role that the Silicon Valley has been onto, and what it still offers to the world and humanity. We look into achieving this by creating a space in the building that will teach people about the city and the valley.

Furthermore, the vertical presence of our piece presents a unique modern, organic, smart form that is easy to process and pleasing to be around whether during the busy day of the valley or along the night life of the city.

Finally, we hope to use our thoughts to create a symphonic rhyme between the building and the site.
