

Project Summary:

The Heart, is the pump engine of the body. By looking at the Silicon Valley and its leading role in the world's advancing & development, We aspire to create an icon that is compatible with it. The Silicon Valley offers an incomparable addition to our present and future daily life.

We consider allowing the city to reflect on an Architectural piece, where visitors can observe the Silicon Valley throughout it; from walking beside it to getting inside it.

We aspire to make a world's first attire that is in harmony with our lifestyle as citizens of this planet.
