

Project Summary:

This urban park concept is composed of multifunctional program zones stretching along the banks of the Guadalupe River. Existing spaces such as SAP Center and Diridon Station are supplemented with rideshare zones and an open sports lawn, while underutilized spaces are activated with a freestanding marketplace, an educational pavilion, a free WiFi zone, and a landmark tower. All paths lead to the landmark tower, the Heart, where viewing platforms offer various city vistas at differing angles and elevations. Nighttime illumination stitches together the structural frames of the Heart, the marketplace, and the educational pavilion, presenting a unifying visual.
