

'the earth' is described as 6 stairs that come together at one point. When people reach the top, people can realize that they are completely lonely.