

Project Summary

In summary , the proposal seeks to represent this notion by a series of growing, interlinked vertical lines, that demonstrate the will to pursue new directions and overcome any obstacle in the pursuit of a new plane.

As such, it is algorithmic in nature but without mathematical calculation, monolithic in character but not purely geometric. Engineered by Space and time, but not in a direct manner and isolated in all the above where it's placement garners attention, as well as serves the location as a place of gathering and reflection.