

The project symbolizes the stages of a person, his path to achieving the goal. Two monuments, which are located in different parts of the park and which have a hand as an attribute, show the connection of people. A handshake is the basis of business, trust and cooperation. The division of one facade into two components is a symbol of brain activity, the left and right hemispheres.

The project also carries a philosophical mission - in this world a lot is changeable, but faith in people remains unchanged.

The premises are used for public events, individual and commercial purposes.
