

Silicon Valley is one of the most innovative and culturally diverse places on the planet. It is no doubt that with her innovations she holds and connects the world and has change the world forever. However, an icon is needed that will not only speak to the community but also to the whole world. A place where people in the community would like to congregate together and also people around the world would like to visit. An iconic symbol that can proudly say “we hold and connect the world”.
