More than a selfie backdrop - a living neighborhood where thousands work and call home.

IT'S FREE REAL ESTATE

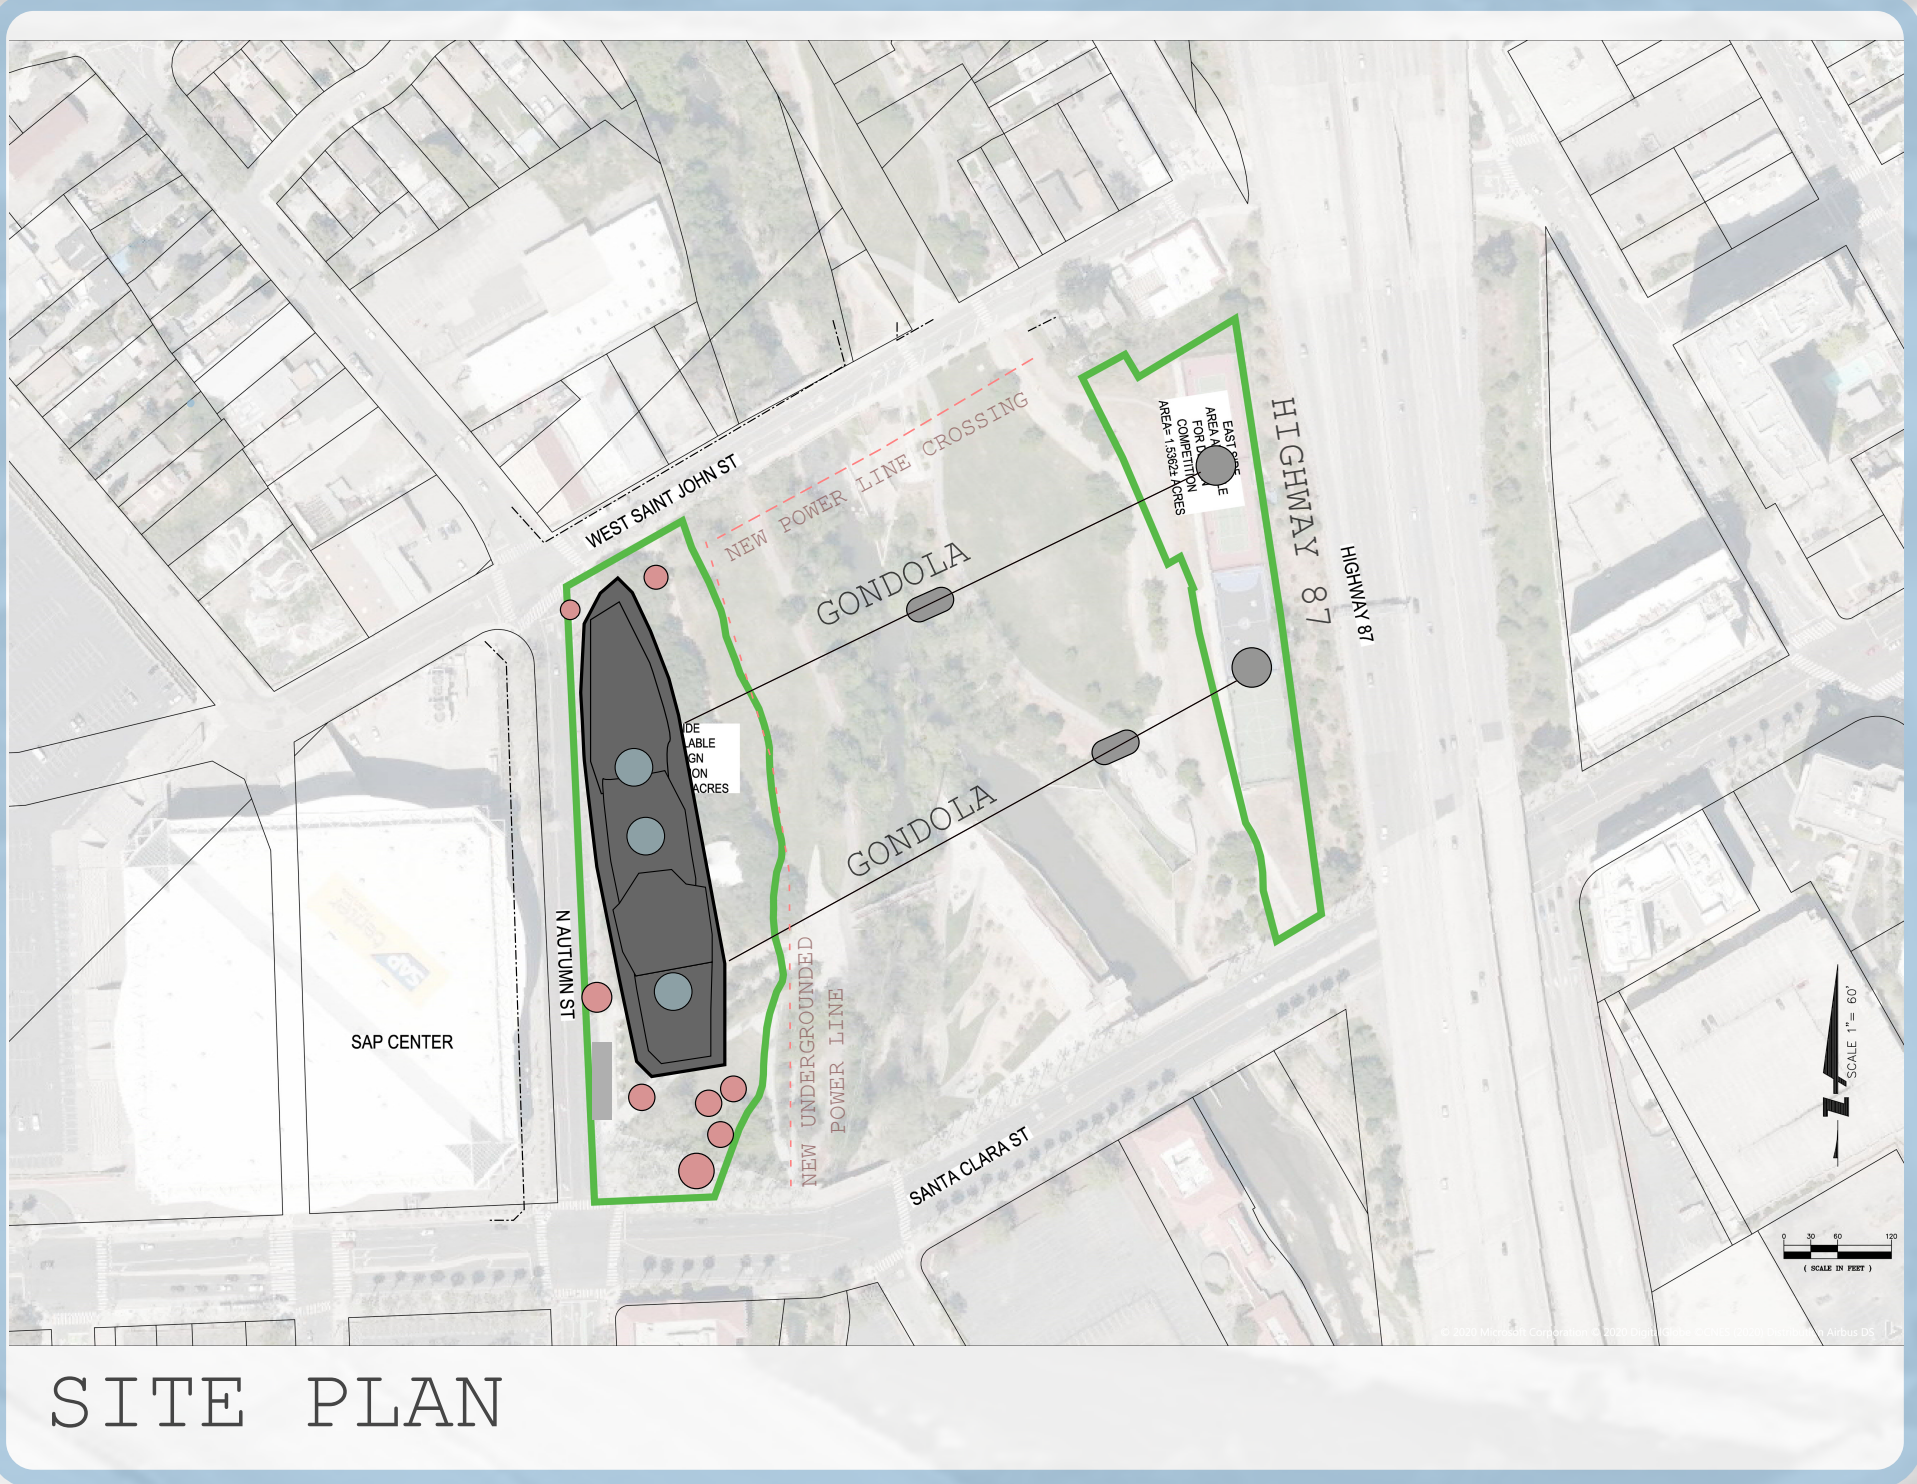

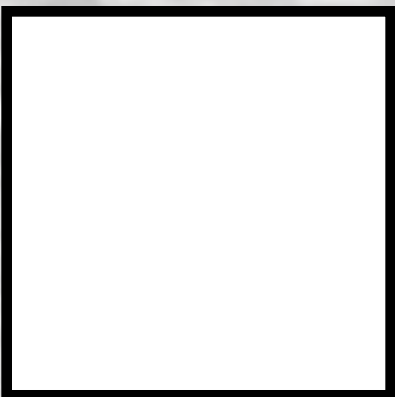

Dear Diary. It is a period of peace and calm. We first boarded the Starship San José many moons ago in the mid first century of the Silicon Millenium, meeting friends for avocado toast and a quick stop at the post office on Deck 3. Today it's time to begin our own journey, our own San José story. Got a cheap pad in the Autumnside Living Pod and a market stall at the Dome One night market. From here we launch our work to change the universe. Let us rise up the escalator to the engine room, where the windows glow with a soft blue halo from the energy of this evening's community dance circle. The twenty-first century, the Californian century. Ever onwards!
