

Spirals choreographs a journey from the Guadalupe River Park below to the SAP concourse above. The journey culminates in a second spiral, looping upward to the sky and returning to the bridge at Confluence Point. Existing site assets are revitalized for rediscovery. It is here in Silicon Valley where we merge seemingly different entities and experiences, and intertwine them to create new technologies of tomorrow. The spiral is a loop that starts at one point and end at the next point, symbolizing our spirit of exploration and never doing the same thing twice.
