

One principle -two designs (A,B)

This is a contradictory combination: the acting "Perpetuum Mobile" rejected by science, and the dynamic mechanism of the thinking head of the innovator.

The reverse pumps of water circulation are turned on, and the "engine" starts working and transmits rotational motion to the gears of the "brain" for "thinking" new ideas and for charging the lights of the brain cells where new ideas are matured.

you can get inside the "head" and find out how "new ideas" are created.

You can place expensive ads in glass engine cylinders

This spectacular, profitable show will appeal to everyone.
