

The proposal for this project are 2 gigantic statues, one representing Mother Nature and the other one representing Father Time. Those two statues are building together a bridge over the river. The eastside area is representing Father Time, he stands for the progress and tech side and humanity and on the other side we have Mother Nature, representing where humanity came from. The head of the statues is used as restaurants and bars. It should be possible to walk from one head to another head and even down below to the basement where a Museum is showing the history of Silicon Valley.
