

The technology industry has always struggled to put forth a coherent message about what it intends to be. Valley Skyway makes it clear: Silicon Valley is a force for unity in the world. It seeks to bring people together, across borders, languages and cultures. By uniting Arena Green east and west with a grand yet simple footbridge, and by inviting visitors to ascent the stairs and meet in the middle, the world's most important space will call for unity in a fresh, beautiful and awe-inspiring way.