

This landmark represents the convergence of San Jose and Silicon Valley through an elevated minimalist green structure, winding over and across the park. Embracing the environment, the structure provides a point of connection and passage for wildlife, residents and visitors - supporting all kinds of diversity and celebrating ingenuity. The surrounding landscape, featuring native habitats, includes paths and spaces to inspire exploration and discovery for travelers and locals looking for a break outdoors. With a concept to lead public spaces into the future of recreation, this structure establishes an additional park layer, creating an exciting destination for San Jose.