

UNBOUNDED

The design principles underlying UNBOUNDED celebrate the energy, optimism, and ingenuity that have made Silicon Valley the global epicenter of innovation.

The project is inspired by the Möbius strip, a mathematical form that transitions continuously from inside to outside and that yields an endlessly changing perspective. Materially, UNBOUNDED consists of a pathway that appears to vanish and reappear in a mysterious Möbius twist and a vertical, sculptural loop illuminated by LEDs and powered by a forest of energy-producing “solar flowers.” Under a living roof, cafés and shops provide a net-zero urban refuge for residents and visitors alike.