

The icon chosen to represent Silicon Valley is supernova-and supernova is visually expressed in the light of duality. Using the principle of counterbalance, two overlapping rings are placed to demonstrate a balanced interaction of opposite yet complementary forces-nature and technology. Each of the rings has its unique feature-one celebrates the wonders of science, while the other sings the song of the earth. At the convergence zone, two experiences meet and interact, resulting in a unique event, where the visitors are practically in contact with nature and can observe and learn about the inventions of the future through projection produced by the holographic process.
