

DREAM CATCHER

According to the legend that happened at the Turtle island, there is a spider who bent two old willows into a circle, in which it weaved a web. It is believed that good dreams easily slip through the center hole to the sleeper, but bad ones become entangled in the web and melt at the first light of day.

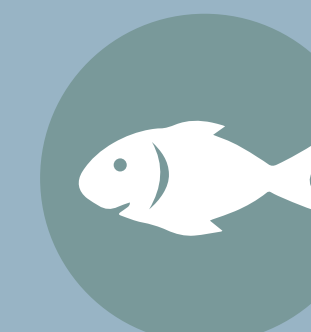

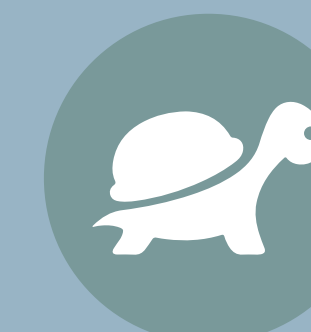

We have created many places where people can spend their free time at the oasis of wild nature.

The complex will house museums, exhibitions, restaurants, shops and etc.

An artificial lake with an island in the center is created for breeding and habiting of turtles and waterfowl. Stone blocks create quiet backwaters where salmon could rest during its migration.
