

The Big Portal (space-time door)

It's a reticular steel structure entirely covered with corten steel panels and composed of a large oval ring with double flaring crossed by a circular structure placed at 116.5 feet high: the panoramic terrace.

At the base there are 2 semicircular steps and a glass sphere with moving water inside that form the "meditation point".

On the terrace it is possible to observe the whole territory at 360° and the small bridge allows you to cross the portal from north to south allowing you to imagine the concepts of time and three-dimensional space considered merged in a four-dimensional continuum.
